VIBRATO

Ashland Rivers was born in Chicago. He grew up in the Bronzeville neighborhood. The launching point of Jazz and Blues. Both his parents were talented musicians. They performed in concerts all over the world. Ashland was very much like his parents. He was gifted with the ability to play any kind of musical instruments. He studied hard and developed his talents.

One night, while playing his electric guitar on the roof deck, a freak accident occurred. Ashland was struck by lightning. He lay there semi-unconscious. He felt his body vibrating with a painful intensity. He began to panic. He thought he was dying. Slowly he coaxed himself not to be afraid. He needed to relax and go with the feeling. Moments later he found himself whirling through space at extreme speeds. He had transformed into a yellow ball of pure energy.

During the next few months he began experimenting with his new powers. He discovered he could mimic energy vibrations at different levels. He could travel along currents of electricity. This included telephone wires, the internet, satellite signals and even certain train tracks.

Although amazed by his newfound power, Vibrato kept them to himself. He was afraid of becoming an outcast. He currently works at a popular recording studio. In his free time, he promotes free music to the kids in his neighborhood. He waits for the right time to share his unique power with the world.
